

Strangers Synopsis

Bella is a 16-year-old girl sitting in the café she goes to everyday, with the drink she orders every time she's there. In the town of Lake Maxibon, you tend to get stuck in a loop, which Bella longs to break. On this particular day though, a change in the loop walks through the door and sits next to her; a 17-year-old named Daniel. The two start talking and connect through their shared love of creativity. Daniel eventually feels comfortable enough to share a sad personal problem he is facing. He is debating on whether or not to run away from his struggling household, but after a conversation with Bella he decides to go home first to talk to his parents. They say goodbye, but even after Daniel leaves, Bella's loop is evidently changed.